The forum will explore a wide range of topics such as leadership, entrepreneurship, innovation and technology with a special focus on the engineering society, their evolution and forage into the world of business.

The exhibition will provide a unique platform for business individuals of the world to exchange and discuss ideas, thoughts and experiences while providing an opportunity to demonstrate their product and service offerings.

Global Business trends for Women in Engineering

On the occasion of women's day on December 1, 2015.

H.H. Princess Sabeeka bint Ibrahim Al Khalifa, Wife of His Majesty the King and President of the Supreme Council for Women announced that the theme for the year 2017 will be dedicated to honoring Bahraini women in the field of Engineering.

In line with the above theme, this year's Forum will have a special focus on Women Engineers and their pioneering contribution in the world of business. Highlighting their success stories and important roles in various fields such as entrepreneurship, manufacturing, management, healthcare, education, information technology and much more..

As evidenced below women in Bahrain have made significant inroads in the engineering field since the 70s and are merit worthy for this years honor:
